Governor Carney Closes Delaware Schools Through May 15

Governor John Carney (<https://news.delaware.gov/category/governor/governor-john-carney/>) | News (<https://news.delaware.gov/category/news/>) | Office of the Governor (<https://news.delaware.gov/category/governor/>) | Date Posted: Monday, March 23, 2020

WILMINGTON, Del. – Governor John Carney on Monday ordered all Delaware schools to remain closed through at least Friday, May 15 to fight the spread of coronavirus (COVID-19).

Read a letter (<https://governor.delaware.gov/wp-content/uploads/sites/24/2020/03/Letter-to-Schools-03.23.2020.pdf>) that Governor Carney sent Monday night to families, educators, and school leaders.

"On March 13, after significant discussion with superintendents and charter school leaders, I ordered public schools to close through this Friday, March 27," said Governor Carney. "This two-week period was intended to help school leaders and educators plan for what came next."

"We have spent a significant portion of the last week discussing plans for remote instruction, the delivery of meals, and other social services. This is an unusual time – but children still deserve access to a quality education, and families rely on the social services we deliver in our schools every day. We'll continue to work directly with school leaders on these important issues."

Governor Carney also announced the following:

- The State of Delaware intends to formally recommend that no school district or charter school extend its school calendar beyond the end of June. Dr. Susan Bunting, Secretary of the Delaware Department of Education, will formally make that recommendation to the State Board of Education, upon submission by each district and charter.
- The State of Delaware has submitted a waiver to the U.S. Department of Education requesting Delaware be exempt from state testing this year to focus our efforts on student instruction.
