

Current News

New

December 22, 2020 Governor Phil Scott announced a temporary modification to restrictions on multi-household gatherings during the holidays. Between December 23rd and January 2nd, households may gather with one other trusted household. Governor Scott also announced youth sports may resume with no-contact practices. Effective December 26th, school-based and youth recreational programs may begin practices with individual skills, strength and conditioning. The Agency of Education has released full guidance for school-based sports. Also, Vermonters may resume outdoor activities with those outside of their household, as long as physical distancing, masking and other precautions are observed.